

Gun Control and the 2nd Amendment

- There is no right answer to this issue.
- We need to have common sense gun laws.
- There is no one-size-fits-all solution.

- It is clear from the last gubernatorial campaign, and recent protests by students in Chicago's schools, that a policy for Chicago, that suits the wishes and needs of that urban community is far different from one that will serve the interests of a farmer in Carbondale or Peoria.

- Whatever policies we enact should have the full support of local law enforcement agencies. If they think that concealed carry, open carry or stricter gun control puts them at risk in the performance of their public safety duties, then that opinion should prevail as public policy.
